2 Introduction

2.1 Purpose and Scope

This is the Help documentation for users of the SIX Swiss Exchange Member Section. It explains how the Member Section is set up and how to perform common user-related and administrative tasks.

2.2 Changes Since Last Version

- The Password section has been updated

3 Member Section Setup

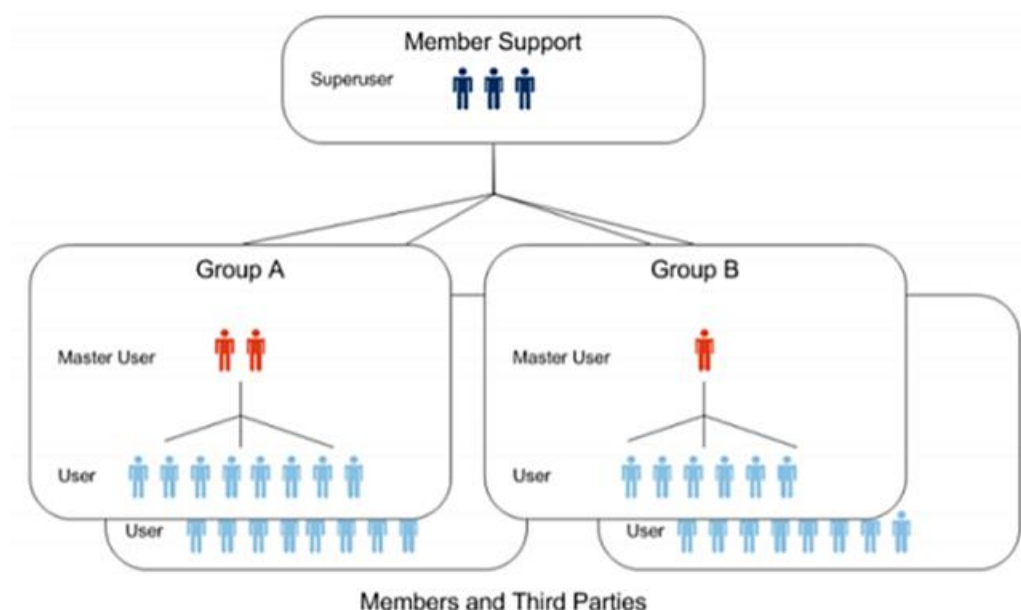

In this section you will find general explanations of the different aspects of the SIX Swiss Exchange Member Section.

3.1 Overview

To use the Member Section, SIX Swiss Exchange must first set up a GROUP in the Member Section for the participant member or third party. This is usually done in the course of participant on-boarding. Read more about "Request a New Group" on page 12.

Group administration, for example activation of new users, is handled by the GROUP'S designated MASTER USER(S). Read more about "Master User Tasks" on page 20.

Personal settings, for example contact details or subscriptions, are handled by the users themselves. Read more about "General User Tasks" on page 12.

	Indicates a SUPER USER . Read more about " Super User " on page 6.
	Indicates a MASTER USER . Read more about " Master User " on page 6.
	Indicates a USER . Read more about " User Types " on page 6.

3.2 Group

Before a USER can access the Member Section, he must have an account with a GROUP. The GROUP forms part of the user's login credentials.

GROUPS are set up by SIX Swiss Exchange at the participant level. More than one GROUP may be set up per participant, if required.

The default Group name is the MEMBER ORGANIZATION ABBREVIATION, if applicable.

If you do not know your Group name, please contact a SUPER USER. Read more about "Forgotten Group Name" on page 10.

3.3 Super User

A SUPER USER is a member of staff of SIX Swiss Exchange (Member Support Center or Member Services). To contact a SUPER USER, please use our Contact Form - Member Section. Read more about "Contact a Super User" on page 15.

-  The contact option is only visible prior to logging on to the Member Section.

Alternatively, use the table below to contact our helpdesks directly.

3.4 Master User

A MASTER USER is a user with administrator access rights for a given GROUP. The MASTER USER is a member of your own organization. The MASTER USER can:

- Activate new users
- Modify user access rights
- Delete users
- Modify Group details

-  We strongly recommend that you designate at least two MASTER USERS. To designate an additional MASTER USER, modify the access rights of an existing user. Read more about "Modify User Access Rights" on page 21.

3.5 User Types

There are five different user types:

- IT User
A USER who is interested primarily in IT-related matters.
- Business User
A USER who is interested primarily in business-related matters.

Note: Two separate GROUPS may be created to distinguish between Business Users in the Membertest environment and Business Users in the Production environment.

- Reporting Member P01
A USER who is interested primarily in trade and transaction reporting-related matters in the Production environment.
- Reporting Member M01
A USER who is interested primarily in trade and transaction reporting-related matters in the Membertest environment.
- Sponsored Access User
A USER who acts as Sponsoring Participant for third parties.

The user type is determined by the GROUP. All users of a given GROUP are of the same user type. The access rights available for selection depend on the user type of the Group. Read more about "Access Rights" on page 7.

Note: If you require additional access rights that are not displayed on the MY USER PROFILE page, an additional GROUP for a different user type that includes these access rights must be set up, see this webpage https://secure.six-swiss-exchange.com/member_section/user_profile.html. For more information, please contact a SUPER USER. Read more about "Super User" on page 6. If the access rights you require are displayed on the MY USER PROFILE page, but are not checked, please contact your MASTER USER. Read more about "Modify Group Profile" on page 20.
